WORKSHOPS

From First Idea to Finished Song: A Creative Writing Workshop with Songwriter Roger Day

Roger's songwriting workshop uses many of the same creative writing techniques that students are already learning in class - developing main ideas, brainstorming, editing, etc. Using these techniques and others, Roger guides students through 5 easy steps to write and record an original song in one class period. He opens the workshop with some of his original songs and explains the challenges he faced with each song and how he solved them. The students then move on to create their own original song by developing an idea and choosing music, brainstorming to refine the idea and editing their product to produce a final song in a fun and participatory process. Appropriate for elementary ages.
