Description:

For K-6th Grades and Family Shows

Science is fun, exciting and all around us. We all use it in our daily lives, often without even realizing it. With his unique humor and trademark wordplay, Zak points out the wonder of the natural world and shows how he uses technology to bring his ideas to life on stage. Students will watch Zak change the pitch a sound wave by simply bending his musical (toothless) saw and they will learn about pitch, frequency, magnetic fields and electric amplification in this interactive, joyful celebration of science. K-3 and 4-6 versions. Curriculum Connections: Music, literary, language arts, science, reading, creative thinking, storytelling
